

Jeff Ifrah Receives Chambers USA Recognition for 4th Consecutive Year

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 23, 2014 – Jeff Ifrah has been recognized by the Chambers USA 2014 Guide as one of the top attorneys for White Collar Crime and Government Investigations in Washington, DC, for the fourth consecutive year. Since opening his boutique litigation firm in 2009, Jeff has developed a particular niche in the iGaming industry, including recent cases involving the representation of defendants in four of the nation’s largest illegal sports betting cases and leading his firm in iGaming matters. The firm also handles general commercial litigation matters.

In addition to listing the best attorneys in the country, the Chambers USA Guide includes commentary on the ranked attorneys, which is based on the feedback Chambers receives from extensive client interviews. In this year’s guide, Chambers noted that, “the strategic, thorough and personable Jeff Ifrah of Ifrah PLLC maintains a fine reputation for his white-collar practice and is also highly regarded for his knowledge of the internet gambling space.”

The Chambers Guides have been ranking the leading law firms and lawyers since 1990. Their researchers and editors conduct in-depth interviews with lawyers and clients, as well as information submitted by law firms, to develop a comprehensive view of the best attorneys and law firms in jurisdictions around the globe.

About Ifrah Law:

Ifrah Law is a Washington, D.C.-based law firm that represents clients in a variety of litigation settings. Founded in 2009, the firm specializes in Internet advertising, igaming, government contracts and healthcare. Its attorneys also author two noted blogs: www.crimeinthesuites.com, an analysis of current issues in white collar defense, and www.ftcbeat.com, FTC and State AG News for E-Commerce. For more information, please visit www.ifrahlaw.com.

#